Question 9: Concern About IRS Inability to Verify Eligibility

As you may know, the IRS has said that it is not ready to verify the eligibility of citizens who apply for health care subsidies from the federal government. This means the government will have to trust citizens to be honest about their income and subsidy needs. How concerned are you that this could result in rampant fraud and the waste of billions of taxpayer dollars: very concerned, somewhat concerned, not too concerned, or not at all concerned?

Question 11: Preferred Source of Congressional Health Care Coverage

When the health care reform law known as the Affordable Care Act or ObamaCare was passed in 2010, it required Members of Congress and their staffs to get coverage through the same health exchanges that ordinary Americans have to use. But in response to congressional pressure, the Obama Administration announced it would use a loophole in the law to allow Congress to keep the more generous benefits their current coverage provides. Do you think Members of Congress and their staffs should get their coverage through the exchanges created by the health care law, or do you think they should continue to get the coverage they are receiving now?

When the health care reform law known as the Affordable Care Act or ObamaCare was passed in 2010, it required Members of Congress and their staffs to get coverage through the same health exchanges that ordinary Americans have to use. But in response to congressional pressure, the Obama Administration announced it would use a loophole in the law to allow Congress to keep the more generous benefits their current coverage provides. Do you think Members of Congress and their staffs should get their coverage through the exchanges created by the health care law, or do you think they should continue to get the coverage they are receiving now?

Which of the following statements comes closer to your view: (ROTATE) a. If Republicans pass a spending bill that funds all of the federal government except ObamaCare, and President Obama refuses to sign it, it will be Obama's fault if the government shuts down. President Obama will have chosen to shut down the federal government rather than keep it running just because his signature law wasn't funded. b. If Republicans pass a spending bill that funds all of the federal government except ObamaCare, and President Obama refuses to sign it, it will be the Republicans' fault if the government shuts down. They will have chosen to shut down the federal government rather than pay for a law they never liked but is now the law of the land.

Question 13a: Blame in Case of a Shutdown

Which of the following statements comes closer to your view: (ROTATE) a. If Republicans pass a spending bill that funds all of the federal government except ObamaCare, and President Obama refuses to sign it, it will be Obama's fault if the government shuts down. President Obama will have chosen to shut down the federal government rather than keep it running just because his signature law wasn't funded. b. If Republicans pass a spending bill that funds all of the federal government except ObamaCare, and President Obama refuses to sign it, it will be the Republicans' fault if the government shuts down. They will have chosen to shut down the federal government rather than pay for a law they never liked but is now the law of the land.

Question 14: View on Republican Approach to Defund ObamaCare

Now let's talk about that question a little more. Which of the following comes closer to your view about funding ObamaCare: (ROTATE) a. Republicans in Congress need to stand up for American families who will see higher health care costs and fewer jobs because of ObamaCare. Since it will be impossible to get rid of once it is fully implemented, Republicans need to do everything they can to defund ObamaCare now, including a showdown on a bill required to fund the federal government and risking a temporary government shutdown. b. Republicans in Congress oppose President Obama so intensely that they are willing to hurt the American people to get their way. They are threatening to stop paying for our military, our schools, and law enforcement, just to fight President Obama. It is fair for them to try to change the parts of the health care law they don't like, but they should not force a government shutdown to achieve their goals.
